

Remarks/Arguments

This RCE-creating Amendment has been prepared in response to the Advisory Action dated April 16, 2008, which issued subsequent to the Final Office Action dated February 1, 2008 regarding the above-identified U.S. Patent application.

In the Action, the Examiner took the position that Applicant's Amendment after Final, dated March 25, 2008, did not place the application in a condition for allowance, further noting that the claims did not specifically refer positively to the preservation of options for post-rendering analysis and processing. That notation made by the Examiner has been taken by applicant as an indication that claims containing more positive reference to this aspect of the invention would place such claims in conditions for allowance.

Accordingly, claims 1 and 4 herein have been currently amended to accomplish this task. More specifically, claim 1 now includes an additional step which points out that the segmented encryption which is performed by applicant's invention preserves options for post-rendering analysis/processing regarding data contained in the non-content commands and in the non-content field portions of the content commands, present in the data of a document print job.

Claim 4, which is directed to a document print job per se, has been similarly modified.

Accordingly, and with entry of the present Amendment, both claims now presented in this Amendment on the basis of entry of this Amendment are considered to be in conditions for allowance inasmuch as they follow the suggestion made by the Examiner in the Advisory Action, and clearly are directed to subject matter which is neither disclosed nor suggested in any of the prior art presented by the Examiner during the examination of this case. Therefore, favorable reconsideration of this application, and allowance of both claims contained therein now, are respectfully solicited.
